

Assignment 7: Due Thur Oct 5th

Prove that $\cos(x) = 2x$ has exactly one real solution. You need not calculate this solution, only prove that it exists and that there are no others. As always, a graph is a clue but not a proof.

Hint: Assume there are two solutions, then try to arrive at a contradiction.